Visiting was the order of the day Sunday.

Well, Jack Frost has been to visit us at last. The people have been resting since he came. The next thing is to get out and swing your axe as Mr. Snow will soon come and you had better be prepared, so you can enjoy a good fire and lay back and eat spare ribs. The people in Arkansas won't eat spare ribs. If you don't know why they won't ask me through the News.

They tell me there is enough bones in one hog's foot to lay at every man's door in the country, and I find that is true. Some won't believe it, but it is very easy to be explained.

In some respects I am a Quaker. They did things only when the "spirit" moved, and it is when the spirit of the thing moves that I begin my scribbling. Whether or not I fit in other ways I do not know.

Rain and cold weather is the order of the day. The time for the dull, dreary days of winter has come, and we wonder how some will ever battle the fierceness of these days, and live to see the cheery springtime. In this world of ours there are many who are homeless and have nothing to live on. Those who are more fortunate should be thankful, and try to lend a helping hand to those who are not. I do not mean the lazy log-head who never works. Don't help him. But to the widows and orphans should all hands be turned.

Eld. M. A. Hawkworth, of Stevenson, Ala., and H. L. Golston, of Cedar Springs preached at the Baptist Church here Sunday. It had been several months since Elder Golston was here, and all were delighted at his return. Sunday was the Baptist's communion day.

J. S. Massey, of Kelly's Ferry, was here last week, buying all the cattle he could find. The result was eight nice ones from Joe Lawson, above here.

George Gossett is regaining health and strength after an attack of typhoid fever. Had the disease not been checked in the beginning, it would have gone harder with him than it did.

'Possum hunting time is here, and no doubt, many of the little fellows wish there never had been such a monster as man and his dog. Much fun and enjoyment can be had "possum" hunting, but we prefer the musical voices of the hounds in pursuit of the fox. There's where the excitement and enjoyment is. Some old hunter give us a yarn on fox hunting.

E. E. Foster, once the "Texas Bachelor," but now of Rossville, Ga., was here Sunday; visiting his brother, C. I. Foster.

The Burgess place, joining the property of Sevier Jackson, is for sale, and several prospective buyers were here Sunday looking it over. Although in a very rough place, the land is very good, and would furnish a very suitable place for "truck" farming.

The river has been rising very slowly of late, said to be the effects of the lock and dam. The terrible places in the mountains below here, known as the "Sack," "Shoals," "Pot," etc., are done away with, much to the satisfaction, no doubt, of steamboaters.

The behavior of some children at church is awful. It seems as if parents are neglectful along this line of instruction, and it should be remedied.

Will Levi is working at Chattanooga in the employ of Miller Bros. "Ted" Douglass, of Stanley, was here Sunday. Valley Bird.
